FOREWORD

The Bethlehem Public Library is pleased to submit this Genealogy of the Transue Family, by Mr. Wendell F. Transue, of Bethlehem, Pa., as part of the project now being completed through the Works Progress Administration. The work is a valuable contribution to the Library's collection of genealogies of early Northampton County families, whose representatives have become widely scattered throughout the land, and the editor takes this opportunity to commend Mr. Transue on the results of his painstaking research, which he will no doubt continue.

Carroll E. Dickel

Editor.

INTRODUCTION

The writer of this Genealogy of the Transue (Dransu - Transu - Transou - Transeau) Family herewith submits the results of his research, which he hopes will be found of interest to anyone who may in the future be disposed to engage in a more extended study of the family record. While the results obtained have been gratifying to the writer, there remains considerable ground for further research, in clearing up various scattered branches of the family, which, in the comparatively short time in which he engaged in the work, he was unable to follow to a definite conclusion.

Abraham Transue, the founder of the family in America, was of the Reformed faith. His son, Johann Philip (Philip), and his daughter Anna Catharine, the wife of Sebastian Henry Knauss, (one of the founders of Emaus, Pa.) associated themselves with the Moravians, in Bethlehem and Emaus. It was due to this circumstance, and the thoroughness with which the records of the Moravians were kept that, the writer was able to learn the name of the town in Germany (Mutterstadt) from which the family emigrated to Pennsylvania. An inquiry addressed to a citizen of Mutterstadt brought a reply from Herr Wilhelm Becker, Police Commissioner of that city, which is here given in full:

(Translation by Mr. Otto Voigtlander, M. E.)

"Mutterstadt, 30th January, 1935.

Dear Mr. Transue:-

In reference to a letter of Mr. Rudolf Hainich, Mech. Engineer, of Wagnerstr. 5, Dessau (Germany), respecting your family investigation, I am sorry that I could not give you an answer before.

The present church registers no longer show the name of the Transue (Dransu) family.

1. The Reformed register of marriages contains the following:

"Married, February 4, 1721, at Mutterstadt, County Ludwigshafen a Rh. (Palatinate), Abraham Dransu and Elisabeth Muschler".

1. Anna Katharina Dransu, born March 15, 1722.
2. Johann Philipp Dransu, born November 1, 1724.

2. "Married, June 28, 1712, Jacob Dransu and Anna Katharina Rudolph".

The following children are recorded:

1. Hans Jakob, born April 30, 1713.
2. Blasius, born September 23, 1715; died February 16, 1718.
3. Elisabeth, born December 6, 1718.
4. Peter, born October 26, 1721.
5. Johann Georg, born March 20, 1731.

3. "Married, July 22, 1727, Abraham Dransu, widower, and Anna Margaretha Mueller, of Obersilzheim."

The birth register records the name of one child:

Isak Dransu, born July 31, 1729.

4. "Married, in 1726, Johanna Maria Dransu, of Ruchheim (three miles from Mutterstadt), and Philipp Daniel Steiger".

No children of this union recorded.

According to the church registers, all of the above named persons were of the evangelical Reformed religion.

I am sorry to inform you, that I was unable to discover whether any relationship existed between any of the persons named in items 1 to 4.

The register of deaths does not contain the names of any of these persons, and it is therefore presumed that they departed for another city or country.

I am very sorry to inform you that the family name Bröder, or Broeder, does not appear in any register, nor is the name now to be found in this vicinity.

I would be pleased to give you more information regarding your ancestors, but do not have the registers containing the information desired.

Yours very truly,

(Sig.) Wilhelm Becker,
Chief of Police,

Mutterstadt, Pfalz,

Friedenstrasse No. 9,
Germany.

The foregoing communication throws interesting light on the origin of the family. No further record has been found of any descendants of Jacob Dransu (Transu), whose marriage is referred to in Herr Becker's letter, and it is presumed that neither he nor any of his family emigrated to America. It is believed, however, that a close relationship existed between all of the Dransu's (Transu's) who lived in Mutterstadt.

Lippincott's Gazeteer (1893) gives Mutterstadt as a town of Rhenish Bavaria, six miles S.W. of Mannheim, with a population of 3259.

The motives that induced Abraham Dransu (Transu) to leave his native land with his family, were doubtless similar to those of countless others, who came to America in those early days to seek new homes in the land of opportunity, far removed from the distressing civil and religious persecutions with which Europe was torn.

Some years ago a genealogical sketch of the Transeau Family was prepared by Rev. Samuel Transeau, of Williamsport, Pa., in which appeared the following statement:

"The Transue (Transou or Transeau) who escaped from Lotharingia or Lorraine, France, and the cruelty of Louis XIV, lived and died in the Palatinate, the land of his adoption. It is related by history that two of his sons emigrated from Germany to America in the early part of the Eighteenth Century to North Carolina, and it is likely that some of his descendants can be found in the western part of that state. We know that that section of the state is largely inhabited by the descendants of Germans. The other brother, Abraham, with whom we are especially concerned, came to the State of Pennsylvania in July, 1730, and swore allegiance to the Proprietors of Pennsylvania, July 30, 1730. He had two sons, Philip and Abraham." The writer of the foregoing continues with an account of the descendants of this Abraham Transue.

The above information, in the light of the true facts, appears to be incorrect. From "Pennsylvania German Pioneers"-Strassburger-Hinke,-Norristown, Pa.-1934, Vol.1, pp 31, 33, and 34, we learn that Abraham Transu, with a number of other Palatines imported in the ship "Thistle", of Glasgow, Colin Dunlop, master, from Rotterdam, but last from Dover, per Clearance June 19th, qualified at the port of Philadelphia, Aug. 23, 1730. The name is spelled identically in three separate passenger lists, in none of which are to be found the names of any other members of the family.

Abraham, the pioneer, it would further appear, was accompanied on the voyage by his second wife, Anna Margaretha, m.n. Waller, their daughter, Anna Catharina, and a son, Johann Philip (Philip). Of the two children named we have definite knowledge. The son, Isaac, barely a year old, doubtless died before his parents sailed for America, or did not survive the rigors of the voyage. At all events no further mention of him occurs in the records thus far examined.

The reference in Rev. Samuel Transeau's account to the French origin of the family, while probably traditional, does, however, seem to have some foundation in fact, and the writer is of the opinion that France was at one time their home.

As to the spelling of the name, various forms are still in use. The form Dransu, used in the Mutterstadt records, is, of course, the same as the English form Transu. Philip and his descendants in North Carolina, adopted Transou, while the most common spelling used by many of the descendants of Abraham, was Transue. The form Transeau appears to lean toward the French.

I am deeply indebted to Mr. Clarence E. Beckel, who gave me the benefit of his long experience as a genealogist, and devoted considerable time to editing and arranging the data I had accumulated in an approved fashion. I also wish to express to Miss Harriet T. Root, Librarian of the Bethlehem Public Library, my appreciation of her courtesy and interest in the preparation of the work.

GENEALOGY

1. Abraham Dransu (Transu), the ancestor, as previously stated, came to America in the summer of 1730, with his second wife, Anna Margaretha, m.n. Müller, a son, Johann Philip (Philip), and a daughter, Anna Catharina. The earliest record of the family was obtained from the Evangelical Reformed records of the City of Mutterstadt, Germany, wherein is contained the record of his two marriages: first, on February 4, 1721, to Elizabeth Muschler (? Münster); and secondly, on July 22, 1727, to Anna Margaretha Müller, of Upper Silzheim. In the same records we find the baptisms of two children by his first marriage: Anna Katharina, b March 15, 1722; and Johann Philip, b Nov. 1, 1724. The records of the Moravian Churches in Bethlehem and Emaus, Pa., give the maiden name of Abraham's first wife as Elizabeth Münster, while the transcript from the Mutterstadt record has it Muschler. The former is believed to be the correct name, and the other to have been simply an error by the correspondent who copied the record. The Mutterstadt record also contains the baptism of one child from the second union, Isaak Dransu, b July 31, 1729, just a year before the family emigrated to America.

From the records of the New Goshenhoppen Church* we learn that Abraham Transu was a member of the Reformed congregation there in 1731, and that a son, (the mother's name not stated) was baptized June 6, 1731, by the Rev. John Peter Miller, and given the name Johann Abraham. The witness was Michael Schell.

In the same records*are found the baptisms of two other children of Abraham Trandsue, or Transo, and Anna Margaretha, his wife, as follows:

July 28, 1734, by Rev. John Peter Miller, a son, Johann Jacob; witnesses: Jacob Keller and Anna Maria, his wife.

June 20, 1736, by Rev. John Henry Goetschy, a daughter, Elisabetha; witness: Elisabeth Schunk.

It is not known definitely whether Abraham Transu had more children by his second marriage than the four already named.

On March 4, 1738, Abraham Transu applied for a warrant for 150 acres of land in Salisbury tsp., Bucks (now Lehigh) Co., Pa; this was surveyed on March 30, 1738, and shortly afterward a warrant therefor was issued. The tract in question is located along Route 309 leading from Allentown to Quakertown, on top of the Lehigh mountain, about a mile west from Summit Lawn. On August 4, 1759, Abraham Transu sold to Adam Goering 50 acres from the original tract, and on July 4, 1768, 49.1 acres to Henry Brunner. There appear to have been no further transfers covering the tract in question until April 5, 1844, when the State of Pennsylvania issued to William F. Danosky a patent for the remaining 48.1 acres. It is probable that Abraham Transu lived and died in the vicinity mentioned; it being about four and one half miles from where his daughter was located. There is no record that Abraham paid a Proprietary tax in 1772 or a Federal tax in 1785, for which years records are available. It is presumed that he died between 1768 and 1772. He was probably buried in the cemetery of the Chestnut Hill Church, which was the nearest place of worship to his home. The writer was unable to locate the early records of the latter church. Issue:

SECOND GENERATION

2. Anna Catharine Transu, (Abraham), born in Mutterstadt, Germany, March 15, 1722; came to America with her parents in 1730; died June 26, 1799. At the time of her death, her descendants included 91 grandchildren, and 36 great grandchildren, of whom 73 grandchildren and 32 great grandchildren were then living.

Married Jan. 1, 1741, Sebastian Henry Knauss, born in Dädelsheim, Germany, Oct. 6, 1714, and came to America in 1723, settling near Emaus, Pa. He was reared in the Reformed Church, and in early life was engaged in the occupation of a wheelwright. He died Feb. 26, 1777 from pneumonia. Both he and his wife are buried in the old Moravian Cemetery at Emaus. At the latter place Sebastian H. Knauss learned the trade of a waggoner with Henry Antes. He became interested in the Moravian Church, and on Dec. 29, 1742, with four other men was received into the membership of the Moravian congregation at Bethlehem, Pa, later joining the Moravian congregation at Emaus. He was naturalized April 10, 1753. From the records on file in the Department of Internal Affairs at Harrisburg, it appears that Sebastian H. Knauss purchased from the Proprietors of the Province of Pennsylvania at least three tracts of land, as follows: 200 acres, Sept. 12, 1747; 55 acres, Jan. 11, 1760; and 75 acres, Oct. 10, 1761; making a total of 330 acres, all lying in the townships of Upper Milford and Salisbury in Northampton (now Lehigh) county. In addition to these tracts he purchased on Mar. 20, 1765, from Martin Ginkinger, $71\frac{1}{2}$ acres in Upper Milford tsp., making his total holdings $401\frac{1}{2}$ acres. In 1747 he and Jacob Ehrenhard were elected and ordained stewards of the newly organized Moravian Church at Emaus, and jointly donated over one hundred acres of land, for the erection of a hamlet, including a church, school, and the grounds adjacent. He is known as one of the founders of Emaus. The village was surveyed in 1759, and named Emaus in 1761. He is described as being of small stature, had auburn hair, was a good conversationalist, and good-natured.

The above data concerning Sebastian Henry Knauss was obtained from "Lukas Knauss and His American Descendants", by Wilbur L. King.

3. Johann Philip (Philip) Transu, (Abraham), b Nov. 1, 1724 in Mutterstadt, Germany, and came to America with his parents in 1730. He learned the art of milling in Bethlehem, Pa. On Feb. 16, 1755 he married Maria Magdalena Ganter, born in the Palatinate, Feb. 18, 1729. They were married in the Moravian Church at Bethlehem by the Rev. Matthew Godfrey Hehl. In 1756 he became miller at the Friedensthal Mill, a position he held until 1760. On Mar. 14, 1757, he was appointed overseer of the Friedensthal plantation by the stewards' committee of the Nazareth Moravian congregation, and was allowed 30 pence for his services. At that time the settlers were experiencing difficulties with the Indians, and the Friedensthal mill was used as a place of refuge from the hostile natives. In 1760 he left Nazareth and went to Macungie, where he labored as millwright for a short time, and then went to Lititz, Pa., where he remained until April, 1762. He then returned to Bethlehem, and on Apr. 20, with his wife Magdalena, and their three children, Abraham, Magdalena and Philip, Jr., and two other married couples, left Bethlehem by wagon for the Moravian settlement in North Carolina, Philip Transu and a Mr. Herbst, remaining with the baggage, which was taken by way of Easton and the Delaware river to Philadelphia. On the 23rd the baggage arrived safely at Philadelphia, was put on board the Sloop "Elizabeth", and on the 25th, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, under Captain Fisher, set sail. On the 8th day of June they arrived at Bethabara, N.C., after many thrilling experiences. Philip at once began the erection of a home in Bethania, N.C., into which he moved the middle of July, 1762.

Philip became a prominent citizen of Bethania, serving on the important committee for the building of a new house of worship. He was made one of the stewards of the congregation and was overseer to provide provisions and water service for the community.

He took the oath of allegiance to the Colonial Government, and during the Revolutionary war furnished supplies for the army. He and his son were engaged as waggoners. He died in Bethania, N.C., Apr. 19, 1793 and is buried there. Maria Magdalena, his wife, died in Salem, N.C. in 1803, and is buried at the latter place. Philip Transu adopted "Transou" as the spelling of the family name and this form continued in use by his descendants.

The birth records of both Abraham and his wife are recorded at the Goshenhoppen Church. Abraham in his youth learned the trade of wheelwright. In 1756 the family located in Williams tsp., Northampton Co., Pa., and in 1773 he purchased from Abel James and John Thompson, lot 40 in the Durham tract in that township. This lot contained 21.6 acres and was located north of the border line of Bucks county; the "Great Road", leading from Easton to Philadelphia, passing through the center of the tract. In 1785, he paid a Federal tax on 200 acres of land, 3 horses and three cattle; in 1786 and 1788 he was assessed for the same amount, and also paid a tax as a tavern keeper. The "Great Road" was traveled by persons going by stage coach to Philadelphia, and Abraham's tavern was one of the many stopping places along the route, where travelers could secure refreshments and a change of horses. He received a deed for his land Feb. 3, 1800, and between the years 1800 and 1806, subdivided it into 7 parcels, several of which he disposed of to two of his sons, Anthony and Peter. He and his wife were known far and wide for their kindness to travelers and their friendliness to all who knew them.

Abraham and seven of his sons enlisted in Col. Philip Boehm's company of the 4th Battalion, Northampton County Militia and were mustered out the 19th day of April 1782. He died April 13, 1813, and Maria Magdalena, his wife, April 10, 1810. Both are buried in the old Williams churchyard in Williams tsp. Issue:

As a youth he made buckskin breeches and taught school; he also played the church organ, and sometimes acted as a barber. Later he became a master tinsmith; he also started the first paper mill in Winston-Salem, N.C. Becoming interested in some legal matters, he read law, and for some time served the people of Salem as lawyer. Becoming interested in a Lutheran congregation near Salem, he accepted ordination as a Lutheran minister, in order to serve as their Pastor. By an arrangement with the Moravian authorities, he did not entirely sever his relations with the latter church, and continued to live in Salem, where he was buried in the Moravian Church yard. He was a member of Capt. Wagner's company of the 4th Battalion, Northampton County Militia, under Col. Philip Boehm, and was mustered out the 19th day of April 1782. He received depreciation pay for services rendered by him in the Revolutionary War. Elias reared a large family and met with many reverses. According to the 1790 census, he had a wife, two sons under 16 yrs. of age and three daus. About the year 1800 we find Elias Transue and his family located in Smithfield tsp., Monroe Co. On Feb. 1, 1824 he sold a parcel of land in that township to his brother, Abraham, and another man by the name of John Price. Both Elias and his wife are buried at Shawnee, Pa.

Married Catharine(Müller) Miller, a daughter of Conrad and Barbara Müller of Williams tsp. Issue:

- j Barbara; m Philip Sheibly (Shively)
- k Mary (known also as Polly); m William Fish.

13. Abraham Transue, (Abraham-Abraham), b (abt.) 1757, d 1829. The exact date of birth is not known, but we find that he was a sponsor at the baptism of one of his brother's children in 1779, when he was more than likely of age. It was then often the custom to name the first and second born sons in honor of the male grandparents. The first son of the pioneer in Williams tsp., Northampton Co., Pa., was named Elias, in honor of his grandfather Long, and the second son, Abraham, in honor of Abraham Transue, the Emigrant. Abraham Transue was a member of Capt. Wagner's Company in the 4th. Battalion of Northampton County Militia (third class) under Col. Philip Boehm. This company was mustered out April 19, 1782. He was listed as having paid a Federal tax on 125 acres of land and one head of cattle, in 1786. In the Federal tax list of 1788, he was again taxed for 125 acres, for one horse, and three head of cattle. In the writer's opinion Abraham did not remain on this land; all his land holdings when he died in 1839, were a little over 150 acres. The 1780 census shows that his family consisted of one male over 16, one male under 16, and two females. On May 2, 1782, a man by the name of John Gettered, sold to Abraham Transue, Jr., a parcel of land containing 9 acres and 16 perches, located in Williams tsp. On the 24 day of April, 1812, Abraham purchased from his brother, Melchior, 44 acres of land in the same township, and it was on this farm that he then moved and there reared his family. On the 28th day of May, 1838, he purchased from his son, Jacob, in Lower Saucon tsp., Northampton Co., 12 acres and 72 perches. Abraham was a tailor by trade, an influential citizen, and both he and his wife were said to have been good conversationalists, and to have stood firm in their religious faith. They are buried in the old Williams church yard.

He left his native township between 1784 and 1790, and the census of the latter year records him as a resident of Smithfield tsp., Northampton (now Monroe) Co, his family then consisting of one male over 16, one male under 16, and five females. He was a private in the First of Northampton County Militia, under Col. Philip Boehm. The records of the Department of the Interior at Harrisburg, indicate that Melchior Transeau applied for a warrant for 25 acres of land, Jan. 22, 1784. However, he never took possession, and the land was returned to the province. The 1780 census indicates that he was then the head of a family consisting of one male over 18, two males under 18, and two females, in Williams tsp., Northampton Co., Pa. The census of 1800 shows that he was the head of a family and had eight children; two years later they had another child, making nine children in all by his first marriage. In 1795 he purchased from a widow named Barbara Millar, in Williams tsp., a farm containing 44 acres, for which he paid in gold and silver, 200 pounds. In 1813 he sold this farm to his brother, Abraham Transue. He and his family left some time later for Butler Co., Pa., where he died.

18. Melchior Fransue, (Abraham-Abraham), b Feb. 9, 1761; his baptism is recorded in the Tchioken Church record; he was confirmed July 1, 1781 in the Reformed Church at Springfield, Bucks Co., Pa, and died 1824 in Butler Co., Pa.

He married first, Anna Maria Laudenschlager, a daughter of Henry and Mary Catharine, who was born 1785, and died June 6, 1802. She was buried in the old Williams tsp. cemetery.

He married secondly, Elizabeth Kreidler, a daughter of Frederick and Barbara Kreidler, of Heektown, Pa., and she died May 24, 1864 in Butler Co., age 90 yrs. and two days.

On March, 1964 I purchased from the Bethlehem Public Library, a copy of "Genealogy of Transue (Dransu-Transu-Transou-Transeau) Family by Wendell F. Transue, edited by Clarence E. Beckel, under the direction of Harriet T. Root, Librarian Bethlehem Public Library. This was purchased with the thought of placing the material in the Kansas City Public Library, Kansas City, Missouri. Since our ancestors came here from Pennsylvania, no doubt there are many descendants in the Middle West who would like to know more about our ancestors.

On page 29 you will find that it is stated that Abraham Transue (born 1788) married Elizabeth Best. Since I have seen the old family Bible and know that her maiden name was Butz, it is my desire to correct the error also to list the descendants (for which I have proof) of Abraham and Elizabeth Butz Transue. Before having this material bound, I shall include my line of Transue descent and the ancestors of the women they married, listing my source of information. Also a photostatic copy of the Bible Record of Abraham and Elizabeth Butz Transue shall be included.

Since my information is to be considered only as a supplement (continuation of line of descent of Abraham born 1788 (Abraham,³ Abraham,² Abraham¹) and not the original book that was prepared by Mr. Wendell Transue, I shall use Roman numerals to number the pages.

The Transue Family including ancestors of wives of the Transue men, and my husband's ancestors.

 Irma Mae Transue Tindall

Abraham (born 1788), his wife Elizabeth Butz Transue and their children settled in Clinton County, Missouri.

November 26, 1840, Abraham Transue purchased land from John Thatcher. "The West half of the North East quarter of section seventeen, of township fifty five in Range thirty one, containing eighty acres more or less."

It is stated in the History of Clinton County that the permanent settlement of Clinton County began about 1833. Wild animals of almost every species known were found in abundance. The prairies and woods, and streams and various bodies of water, were all thickly inhabited. Deer, turkeys, ducks, geese, and squirrels were plentiful. The fur animals were abundant such as otter, beaver, mink, muskrat, racoon, panther, fox, wolf, wild-cat and bear. There were sixty thousand acres of timber. The people who came to Clinton County lived in log cabins.

We do know that Abraham had a mill on Smith's Fork. Today there is no water where the mill once stood. The land is located a few miles northeast of the town of Plattsburg.

It has been said that a mill was indispensable to the welfare of the people of the community. There the logs were sawed and the grain was ground. They were brought from great distances by heads of families who knew of the jam and congestion on "grinding days" so brought their "grub-box" and bedding to be prepared to stay a week if necessary, rather than to trudge back over the long winding dangerous trails.

"In those days the people took no care to preserve history - they were too busy engaged in making it."

The graves of Abraham and Elizabeth - - in the family cemetery by the side of the road, in the shade of beautiful Linn trees and within sight of the place where their mill once stood. (Today, their monument is the only monument there.)

In the book "The First Reformed Church of Easton, Pennsylvania" by H. M. Kieffer -- baptismal records of four children of Abraham and Elizabeth Transue are listed.

Laevinus Transue born November 14, 1829 (son of Abraham and Elizabeth)

Laevinus married: 1st wife Polly Jane Jones

2nd wife Mrs. Martha Sarah Kearns Stanton

Laevinus Transue (spelled Lavinus Transu in Clinton County History, page 160) was one of the early school teachers in Plattsburg, Missouri.

Laevinus owned a farm and had his own green house for growing plants for a "truck patch."

It is written in the obituary of Laevinus:

"Many are the tributes of respect that can so fittingly be paid to the memory of the departed, for to know him was to honor and respect him, straight forward and honest in all his dealings with his fellowmen, yes honest to the core.

Many were they who in need have received bountifully from his generous heart and hand, believing the Lord's command. "Take heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them."

Mr. Transue was a member of the Christian Church, and to the last was faithful and trusting in our great Redeemer. He was always happy when in the Master's service, always delighted in doing all in his power to progress the Lord's work, and was especially a devoted Sunday School worker and could ever be found at his place of duty and worship until failing health prevented.

He was a man of exceptionally bright mind, very interesting of conversation, being possessed of a remarkable memory, he was able to recite almost the entire Bible, and many of the younger christian workers found in him a great helper and willing teacher."

Laevinus and both his wives are buried in Old Log Church Cemetery. "The Old Log Church" - the first organization of Christians in Concord Township three miles east by north of Plattsburg, Missouri, Clinton County.

2nd wife Cornelia Weddington

William Turnidge was one of the first ministers in Ray County. He helped organize New Garden Church, the oldest existing religious organization in Ray County in April 23, 1824. Also, William was the first pastor at New Garden Church and he was the first pastor at New Hope Church in Ray County.

Alice Turnidge Hamot in her book "The Trail Blazers" published in 1935 in Portland, Oregon, has written that Martha (Patsy) Fletcher was a descendant of Moses Fletcher who came to America on the Mayflower.

(It is stated in the book "Trail Blazers" that Alice Hamot worked constantly for over three years in searching old musty records and interviewing hundreds of people, that she had been in 28 states and traveled 40,000 miles) I have read the letter that J. C. Turnage wrote to "Cousin Alice Hamot" after she had requested that he send her information about his family. He had requested that she return the letter to him, which she did. (I have a photostatic copy of the letter).

It is stated in History of Missouri Vol. III by Louis Houck that William Turnidge (sometimes spelled Turnage) preached in the Buffalo Creek settlement in what is now Pike County (formerly St. Charles County) as early as 1817 and at Bluffton, in Ray County (near the present location of Camden, Missouri) in 1821.

The name Turnidge had its origin in England, and the name first appeared about the twelfth century. Surnames in English came into use in England about the eleventh century. Families derived their surname from their occupation. The first Turnidges were turners of lumber and lath makers.

The beginning of our line of the family of Turnidge, William and Mary Turnidge went to Scotland in the sixteenth century. Their descendants later settled in North Ireland. The first Turnidges came to America in 1714 and settled in Green County, North Carolina.

The following information was copied from an article published in The Richmond Missourian, Richmond, Missouri, which is in the record book of Rev. John Clevenger Turnage:

"Mrs. Alice Hamot of Portland, Oregon, has notified The Richmond Missourian of the death of James C. Turnidge, grandson of Elder William Turnidge, the pioneer Baptist preacher the man who first preached the Gospel in Ray County, the founder of New Hope and New Garden congregations of the Primitive Baptist Church.

James C. Turnidge was a native of Linn County, Oregon. He died in July, 1932, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Betha Duncan, Petaluma, California. His father was Joseph Turnidge, who crossed the plains in 1846, and was the first ordained minister to preach in Linn County, Oregon.

Mrs. Hamot is a great-grandchild of Elder William Turnidge. She is writing a history of the Turnidge and Crowley families, which will be published soon, the manuscript planned to be ready by January 1st. Persons with facts about these families are invited to write to Mrs. Hamot, at 464 East Couch Street, Portland, Oregon.

Thomas and Syche Clevenger (parents of Richard Clevenger) lived in Virginia. They later moved to Tennessee and put their letters in Big Pigeon Primitive Baptist Church in Cocke County, Tennessee, just south of New Port, Tennessee in 1789.

The name of Clevenger, like many of our family names was taken from the occupation of the family. In ancient times clavis - a key - and gerere - to bear - became combined into Clevinger or key bearer which in more modern English means treasurer. From Clevinger, time has made the change to Clevenger.

Copied from his obituary:

"Warren M. Carter son of the late Landon Carter, one of Ray County's pioneer citizens.

Warren Carter was known in practically every section of Ray County. For a number of years he was extensively engaged in farming and livestock feeding on his farm east of Rayville. He had spent his entire life in Central Ray County with the exception of a few years in the state of Kansas. For many years Mr. Carter was a very active member and worker in the Methodist Church at Rayville, always taking an interest in his community and the welfare of his people. With the advent of the Nazarene denomination in Rayville, however, he changed his membership to the latter church a few years ago. The death of Mr. Carter removes from Central Ray County one of its most conspicuous figures and his passing is mourned by many friends."

ALICE DYMOKE - SIR WILLIAM SKIPWITH

It is through the Dymoke ancestress that the Skipwiths and Carters derive their "royal lineage" and trace back to King Henry III. Besides high high estate and royal power, Henry III possessed not a noble characteristic, nevertheless through him comes royal blood that is royal in the persons of Henry II, William "The Conqueror" and other early English, Scotch, and French monarchs.

Henry III's wife was Eleanor of Provence. Their son Henry Plantaganet, Earl of Leicester, married Blanche, daughter of Robert, Earl of Artois, and granddaughter of Louis VIII of France. They had a son, Henry, Earl of Leicester, who married Lady Maud, daughter of Patrick, third Baron de Mowbray. Their son, John de Mowbray, married Elizabeth, the only child of John, Lord Segrave, and had a daughter, Margery de Mowbray, who married John, Baron de Welles, and had a son, Eudo de Welles, who married Lady Maud, daughter of Baron de Greystock. They had a son, Sir Lionel de Welles, who married Joan, daughter of Sir Robert Waterton, and had a daughter, Margaret de Welles, who married Sir Thomas Dymoke.

They were the parents of Sir Lionel Dymoke, who married Joan, daughter of Richard Griffith of Stockford, and had a daughter, Alice who married Sir William Skipwith of Ormsby, and thus comes the royal blood of the Skipwiths and Carters.

Through Matilda of Flanders, wife of William The Conqueror the Dymoke line of descent extends back through the Counts of Flanders to Baldwin I, County of Flanders, who married Judith, daughter of Charles II. The Bald, King and Roman Emperor, who was a grandson of Charlemagne, one of the world's greatest rulers. Through the wife of Henry I of England, Margaret, daughter of Malcolm III, King of Scotland, and his wife, the Saxon Princess Margaret, called "Saint Margaret," the Dymoke line extends back through the King of Scotland and early English Kings to the good King Alfred "The Great." Through the de Mowbrays the Dymokes trace back to Phillip II of Swabia, German Roman Emperor, and from him through a line of German Emperors back to Charlemagne again; including in the line the greatest among the German Roman Emperors, Frederick I, "Barbarosa," elected Emperor in 1152; Henry III "Niger," and two great Ottos and others.

With the above outline as a base, those who may wish to do so, can trace out the various lines and find enough noble and royal ancestors "to fill a book."

The Dymokes were also descended from Robert de Vere, Earl of Oxford, and were very proud of their many coats of arms and Norman blood.

"DYMOKE"

The above information copied from "The Descendants of Capt. Thomas Carter" by J. L. Miller. Second Edition for sale by C. J. Carrier, Bridgewater, Virginia.

I wrote to C. J. Carrier and asked if I might purchase a copy of the book so that it could be placed in the Kansas City Library. In their reply, they stated that all copies had been sold.

Edwin, Lette and all ten children were Hardshell Baptist.

Edwin O'Dell came to Missouri from Tennessee. He and his wife Lettis took out a patent on the farm where he built the cabin of walnut logs. The certified copy of the patent was dated November 1, 1830, original entry 1829. The cabin was built before the patent was granted.

John Clevenger Turnage (grandson of Edwin and Lettis Clevenger O'Dell said the logs used in the cabin were practically all walnut and were hewn with broad axe and adz. The corners were dovetailed and are beautiful specimens of this early handicraft. In the cabin was a loft used as a bedroom. The land surrounding the cabin was heavily timbered but was gradually cleared for pasture. He has often heard his grandfather and grandmother tell of the frequent visits by numerous Indians, all of whom were friendly. Deer, panther other large game and wonderful abundance of small game were prevalent down to the days preceding the Civil War.

This cabin is mentioned in the book "Missouri Historic Sites Catalog" published by the State Historical Society of Missouri, Columbia, Missouri, in 1963. (page 30)

"Edwin O'Dell Log Cabin 1/2 mile south of State Highway 10 at east city limits (part of Excelsior Springs Golf Clubhouse) Restored 1910, when golf clubhouse was built around it; loft floor removed to expose workmanship of roof framing. Owned by City of Excelsior Springs."

The following information is in the record kept by her son Rev. John Clevenger Turnage:

"Soon after her first marriage, to Jesse Turnidge, Esther united with the Crooked River Primitive Baptist Church under the ministry of Elder William Turnidge (William Turnidge father of Esther's husband Jesse). For the rest of her life she continued her connection with the same church. She was devoted to her church and found no greater pleasure than attending the service thereof. Her home was always the home of the minister and others who visited her church. Mrs. Colley lived on the same farm from the time of her first marriage until the close of her life. The farm was located half a mile northeast of Rayville, Missouri (formerly Hallard). Her positive Christian Character made its impression on her family. All of her children who lived to manhood and womanhood professed christianity and were active in christian service. She had three sons who were Baptist ministers, Rev. John Clevenger Turnage, Rev. William Turnage and Rev. Isaac M. Turnage.

"When the first settlements within what are now the limits of Ray County were made, the county was almost wild. The prairies were covered with rank grass. The Indians bark canoe floated on the streams, and the jackal's wail on the midnight air. Wild honey was in the hollows of the trees, and a man's life in the hollow of his hand. (page 202)

Men carried their guns to church, not to shoot their fellow-man, but to defend themselves against the attacks of wild animals. They also wore leather breeches, hunting-shirts, moccasins, and con-skin caps. The ladies were attired in dresses of cloth, made from nettles, gathered from the bottoms, after partially decaying, and "broken," as flax. They also wore leather aprons. (page 208)

Mills, markets, etc. were from forty to seventy miles distant, and, as there were no roads, or at best very inferior ones, the mills and markets were accessable only with difficulty.

Trade in livestock, other than "Swapping" horses, was almost unknown. Little money was in circulation, and happily little was required. The scalps of wolves and foxes, for which the law provided a pecuniary reward, were often used to pay taxes; and furs, buckskins, beeswax and wild honey were bartered in the stores. All domestic and mechanical labor was performed by the settlers. There were few carpenters among them; skilled artisans were scarce; hence, every man was his own mechanic. Many agricultural implements, all wearing apparel, and nearly all household articles were made at home. Rude and unshapely as they were, they answered every purpose, and nobody complained because they were no better. The idler was not tolerated; the housewife was untiring; the husband provident; the children dutiful. (page 212)

William Turnage, an Old School Baptist, was the village preacher of Bluffton. He also conducted religious worship at various places in the county. He was among the first settlers, and will be remembered as one of the pioneer preachers of the west; a devout and pure-minded man, whose earnest exhortations taught many souls to "flee from the wrath to come." (page 220)
